

Climate change and Menstrual Health and Hygiene

SHORT AND MID TERM IMPACTS

Compromises menstrual health

- Impacts menstrual hygiene and increases risk for discomfort, infections, and gender-based violence
- Causes anxiety and stress
- Undermines healthcare seeking, information and support seeking
- Intensifies gender inequalities

Vulnerability factors

Demographic

Socio-political

Socio-economic

Biological factors and health status

Gender inequalities

Geographical

Health systems capacity

This brief was prepared by members of the Global Menstrual Collective (GMC) Climate Change & MHH working group